

A BILL

To abolish the First Responder Network Authority, repeal section 6204 of the Middle Class Tax Relief and Job Creation Act of 2012, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “First Responder Network Authority Abolition Act of 2026”.

SECTION 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

- (1) The First Responder Network Authority (FirstNet), a component of the National Telecommunications and Information Administration, Department of Commerce, oversees a nationwide public safety broadband network.
- (2) By directing a broadband network for local first responders, FirstNet expends money drawn from the Treasury on objects that are not among the enumerated powers of Congress, exceeding the “general Welfare” clause of Article I, Section 8, Clause 1, which James Madison explained in Federalist No. 41 is limited by the specific powers enumerated after it and confers no separate power to spend for any object Congress may choose.
- (3) The functions of FirstNet are not “necessary and proper for carrying into Execution” any power vested by the Constitution in the Government of the United States and therefore find no support in Article I, Section 8, Clause 18, which Madison in Federalist No. 44 described as a means of executing powers already granted rather than a source of new ones, as the Anti-Federalist writer Brutus warned in his first essay of 1787 it would otherwise become.
- (4) In carrying out its functions, FirstNet disregards the Ninth Amendment, which provides that “The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people,” including the right of the people to order their own lives, property, and affairs free of federal direction in matters the Constitution does not commit to the Federal Government.
- (5) The Constitution delegates to the United States no power over local public safety communications. By directing a broadband network for local first responders, FirstNet exercises powers that the Tenth Amendment reserves “to the States respectively, or to the people,” contrary to Federalist No. 45, in which Madison described the powers delegated to the Federal Government as “few and defined” and those remaining in the States as “numerous and indefinite.”

(6) The Declaration of Independence affirms that governments are instituted to secure the unalienable rights of the people and derive “their just powers from the consent of the governed,” and it charged the Crown with having “erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.” FirstNet perpetuates the centralized administration the Declaration condemned.

(7) Abolishing the First Responder Network Authority and repealing section 6204 of the Middle Class Tax Relief and Job Creation Act of 2012 will reduce the size and cost of the Federal Government, return to the States and to the people the powers the Constitution reserves to them, and restore the constitutional principles of limited government and enumerated powers.
